

THANK YOU For Taking Action

Last month, King County and Seattle agreed to form the King County Regional Homelessness Authority, an innovative and critical first step to reducing homelessness in our communities by increasing coordination and collaboration.

We applaud Executive Dow Constantine, Mayor Jenny Durkan, the King County and Seattle City Councils, Sound Cities Association, and the Lived Experience Coalition for their leadership.

There is still work to do. Solving homelessness will take everyone – including government, businesses, non-profits, and people who have experienced homelessness – coming together to transform our approach and unite our resources.

TOGETHER, we must ensure King County remains a place where all can thrive.
